doi:10.1351/goldbook.F02355

fibrous crystal

in polymers

A type of crystal significantly longer in one dimension than in either of the other two. Fibrous crystals may comprise essentially extended chains parallel to the fibre axis; however, macroscopic polymer fibres containing chain-folded crystals are also known.

Source:
Purple Book, p. 83

 Copyright © 2014 IUPAC