

absolute counting

in radioanalytical chemistry

A measurement under such well-defined conditions that the activity of a sample can be derived directly from the observed counting rate.

Source:

PAC, 1994, 66, 2513 (Nomenclature for radioanalytical chemistry (IUPAC Recommendations 1994)) on page 2517