

constituent

Chemical species present in a system; often called a component, although the term component has a more restricted meaning in physical chemistry.

Source:

Physical Chemistry Division, unpublished