

continuous bed packing

in liquid chromatography

A column packing, which is a single entity, rather than being composed of individual particles.

Source:

PAC, 1997, 69, 1475 (Classification and characterization of stationary phases for liquid chromatography: Part I. Descriptive terminology (IUPAC Recommendations 1997)) on page 1477