

helix sense

The right-handed sense of a helix traces out a clockwise rotation moving away from the observer; the left-handed sense of a helix traces out a counterclockwise rotation moving away from the observer, e.g. the ...TG⁺TG⁺TG⁺ ... helix of isotactic poly(propylene) is left-handed.

Source:

Purple Book, p. 43