

Mohr amplification process

in analysis

The process in which iodide is oxidized to iodate to achieve a more favourable measurement.

Source:

PAC, 1982, 54, 2553 (Recommendations on use of the term amplification reactions)
on page 2555